ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

SCHOOL BOARD OF LYME, N. H.

FOR THE YEAR ENDING MARCH 1ST, 1889.

The School Board of Lyme are happy to say that in their opinion the schools have made greater progress during the past year than any year since the adoption of the town system. A greater interest has been manifested by parents, teachers, and scholars—all working harmoniously together for the best possible results. The Board are of the opinion that the parents are entitled to a large share of the credit for this extra progress.

The school registers show a greater number of the names of parents who have visited the schools during the past year than ever before. By these visits the parents have said to their children, in tones louder than words, "We are deeply anxious for your success." That parental anxiety is not only a powerful stimulous to the scholars, but also to the teachers. By those visits they are given to understand that they may rely upon the constant co-operation of the parents. It is hoped that those parental visits may not only be continued but greatly increased in the future.

SCHOOL NO. 1.

Advanced Department.—Summer term taught by Miss Fannie M. Stevens of Thetford, Vt. Miss Stevens has taught several terms in Lyme, and always with good success.

Winter term taught by Mr. F. G. Atwell of Enfield, N. H. This school may be truly ranked No. 1. The Board had the satisfaction of believing that they had procured "the right man in the right place." Mr. Atwell seemed to realize the importance of getting the good-will of both children and parents. He was also mindful of the fact that scholars have rights that are entitled to respect. He very soon secured the willing and cheerful obedience of the entire school. He had the faculty of creating such a lively interest in the several studies pursued that his scholars chose to study rather than play. It seems needless to add that the school was a perfect success.

Primary Department.—Summer and winter terms taught by Miss Alice G. Churchill. This school, being composed of young scholars, requires a large amount of patience and hard work. The greater part of the scholars attended school quite regularly, and made good progress upward, while others of very irregular attendance progressed downwards. A mutual co-operation on the part of parents and teachers in influencing those children to like to go to school would, no doubt, bring about a decided improvement.

SCHOOL NO. 2.

Summer and fall terms taught by Miss Ella S. Lamprey of Orford. Some of the scholars in this school fail to realize the importance of getting a good education. Had those scholars made one-half the effort to perform their part that the teacher did to perform hers, different results would have followed. The most of the scholars made fair progress, and if some of the larger boys had assisted the teacher, as all scholars are in duty bound to do, the school would have been a far greater success.

SCHOOL NO. 3.

Summer term taught by Miss Alice Palmer. This was a very successful school. Miss Palmer is a very energetic teacher, and spared no pains in trying to interest her scholars.

Winter term taught by Miss Louise Washburn. This school commenced very well, and had the teacher's health been sufficient for the task no doubt the school would have been a success. "The spirit was willing but the flesh was weak." She said, "My health is such that I cannot do justice to myself or scholars." For the last three weeks of the term her sister Alice took her place, and good satisfaction was given.

SCHOOL NO. 4.

Summer term taught by Miss Gertrude Vaughn of Lebanon, who was very successful in securing the goodwill of all her scholars, and also in making the several studies interesting. Good progress was made and perfect satisfaction given.

SCHOOL NO. 4.

Winter term taught by Lillian S. Derby. It is very much to be regretted that some of the large scholars in this school utterly fail to improve their time in studying. The teacher tried her best to assist them, but her efforts in their behalf were not appreciated by them. Some made very good progress.

SCHOOL NO. 6.

Summer term taught by Miss Emma S. Woodward. This was a very good school. A lively interest was maintained; and teacher, scholars and parents are all entitled to much credit for their combined efforts for the best possible success of the school.

Winter term taught by Herbert B. Converse. This was his third term in this school; and we are happy to say that although his first term was good, his second was better, and if possible the third was best of all. Should be pleased to engage him for at least three terms more.

SCHOOL NO. 7.

Summer term taught by Miss Florence Paine of Fairlee, Vt.

Fall term was under the wise and efficient management of Miss Mary Riley of Orford. Her methods of instruction were good, and she was decided in enforcing obedience to all wholesome rules. Good progress made in the studies pursued.

SCHOOL NO. 8.

Summer term was taught by Miss Sally Chase. This was her first experience in teaching, but she manifested a zeal for the work, which with the combined efforts of her pupils rendered the term very successful.

Winter term taught by Miss Ada M. Cutting, a teacher of large experience and ability. Miss Cutting does not confine herself to text books in her mode of instructing, but has many varied and pleasing exercises aside from regular lessons. With such an energetic teacher to impart instruction, and such pupils to receive, much thought will be called out into various channels of knowledge.

SCHOOL NO. 9.

Summer term was taught by Miss Etta W. Converse, an experienced and successful teacher. Good order was preserved, and a lively interest shown by both teacher and scholars. Miss Converse, by her extra amount of energy and constant industry, stimulates her scholars to greater activity, and consequently greater improvement.

Winter term taught by Miss Ella S. Lamprey was also a very successful school. Miss Lamprey is noted for imparting much valuable information to her pupils that is not contained in the common school books. A very respectful and friendly feeling was manifested by the scholars for their teacher.

SCHOOL NO. 10.

Summer term was taught by Miss Winnie Barnes of White River Junction, Vt. Her first attempt at teaching. Her manner of conducting her school was very satisfactory, and she seemed well adapted to interest and instruct her scholars and gain their good will.

Winter term taught by Minnie I. Kinsman of Thetford, this being her third term in this school. This fact is sufficient to show that she is regarded as a faithful and conscientious teacher.

SCHOOL NO. 11.

Summer term taught by Miss Jennie A. Bailey. This was her third term in No. 11, and her former good reputation was fully maintained.

The fall term, taught by Miss Ila M. Lincoln, was a good school. Miss Lincoln manifested great anxiety for the advancement of her pupils, and the evident progress made was proof that her patient and unceasing labors had not been in vain.

SCHOOL NO. 12.

Miss Mary G. Riley, teacher for the entire school year. Miss Riley has taught several terms in this town, and is a very successful teacher. By her judicious management she secures the respect of her scholars; and for promptness, thoroughness, and dignity of expression, while conducting school exercises, she is rarely equalled. She does not think it good economy to devote some two or three weeks of the latter part of the term merely for outside show. Her school closed with the usual everyday exercises; and due allowance being given for this fact the exercises were perfectly satisfactory. A good word is due to her scholars in that they, of their own voluntary act, raised sufficient funds for another week of school.

SCHOOL NO. 13.

Summer term was taught by Miss Ila M. Lincoln. This was her first experience in teaching, and she entered into the work with a manifest determination to accomplish the greatest possible amount. Her energetic efforts produced highly commendable results, and gave additional proof of the truth of the maxim that "Where there is a will there is a way."

Winter term taught by Miss Etta W. Converse, and as heretofore her labors were crowned with eminent success. A decided improvement was made in all the branches taught, and Miss Converse may justly feel satisfied with the fruits of her labor.
